Junction City, Oregon

Thomas Hunton is the owner of SureCrop Farm Service, a retail fertilizer, a chemical, lime and application business he founded with his parents, Everett and Ellen Hunton, in 1982.

Tom and his field staff consult with growers in Lane, Linn, Benton, and Douglas counties. SureCrop's application equipment covers approximately 60,000 acres annually in those counties.

His own family farm operation includes approximately 2800 acres of grass seed, wheat, meadowfoam, and other seed crops.

Tom has been President of the Oregon Seed Growers League, Oregon Seed Council, The National Fertilizer Solutions Association and the Agricultural Retailers Trade Association. He has served on the Oregon Tall Fescue Commission, Oregon Ryegrass Growers Association, Oregon Meadowfoam Growers Board, Lane Regional Pollution Authority Advisory Board, The Lane County Fair Board, and The Upper Willamette Local Advisory Committee.

Tom graduated from Cal Poly in San Luis Obispo, CA in 1968 with a major in Crops and minor in Animal Husbandry. He and his wife Sue live on the family farm. He has one son, Jason, who has recently joined the family operations.
